WORLD AIDS DAY

1st DECEMBER, 2025

World AIDS Day, observed every year on 1st December since 1988, serves as a powerful reminder that HIV has not gone away and continues to affect millions of lives globally. It provides a platform for Governments, communities, and civil society to unite in the fight against HIV & AIDS, honour those -we have lost, and reaffirm our commitment to supporting all those living with and affected by HIV.

The theme for World AIDS Day 2025, "Overcoming Disruption, Transforming the AIDS Response," stresses the need to strengthen and reimagine our approach to ending AIDS as a public health threat by 2030. It calls for transformative solutions that enhance access to prevention, testing, treatment, and care services while protecting human rights and ensuring equitable, compassionate healthcare for all, especially women, girls, and LGBTQ+ communities who continue to face disproportionate barriers.

On this occasion, let us renew our pledge to eliminate stigma, discrimination, and inequalities that hinder access to HIV-related services. Strengthening health systems, promoting inclusive policies, and raising awareness across communities remain essential to advancing progress in prevention, treatment, and research. I encourage all individuals to make use of the free and confidential HIV & AIDS services available across these islands.

Together, with determination, unity, unwavering commitment, and a persistent human-rights-centered approach, we can still achieve our shared vision of a world free from AIDS.

The enumeration period, which was earlier scheduled upto 4th December, 2025, has now been extended by the Commission, and the revised last date for submission of the Enumeration Form is 11th December, 2025.

The CEO has appealed to all electors of Andaman & Nicobar Islands to submit the Enumeration Forms already distributed by the Booth Level Officers during the ongoing SIR before the revised deadline of 11th December, 2025. Electors are further advised that those who fail to submit the form by the deadline will not have their names included in the Draft Electoral Roll scheduled for publication on 16th December, 2025. The CEO emphasized that the ongoing enumeration exercise is a crucial step toward ensuring an accurate, error-free, and inclusive electoral roll. Electors who have already received the forms are urged to submit them at the earliest and avoid waiting until the last date to prevent any last-minute inconvenience.

The CEO appealed to all eligible electors and political parties to extend full cooperation and actively participate in the democratic process by submitting their duly filled Enumeration Forms to the Booth Level Officer (BLOs) or at the help desks at the offices of the DEO/AERO at the earliest.

In case of any difficulty, electors may contact their Booth Level Officers or call the Voter Helpline Number 1950, a press release from CEO, A&N Islands said.

Andaman and Nicobar Islands Expand Tourism Outreach at Travel East Fair 2025 .....

importance of such events in establishing and nurturing strong relationships with mainland travel operators. By providing direct access to tour operators and corporate planners, these engagements are crucial for addressing gaps in information and ensuring that the Andaman and Nicobar Islands remain a sought-after destination for Indian and international travelers alike.

Sustainable Tourism: A Central Theme

One of the primary focuses of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands' participation at the Travel East Fair is promoting sustainable tourism. At the dedicated Andaman Tourism Pavilion, visitors have been introduced to the islands' diverse tourism offerings, including pristine beaches, vibrant marine life, and a range of ecotourism activities.

The islands have long been a haven for eco-conscious travelers, and their sustainable tourism efforts are aligned with broader global trends in responsible travel. The pavilion highlights eco-friendly initiatives, community-based experiences, and conservation efforts aimed at preserving the fragile ecosystems that make the islands so unique. These displays are designed to emphasize the importance of responsible tourism, encouraging visitors to respect the islands' natural environments while enjoying their offerings.

Tourism Stakeholders Collaborate for Growth

Industry collaboration is at the heart of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands' participation in the Travel East Fair. Representatives from key tourism associations, including the Andaman Association of Tour Operators, the Andaman Nicobar Tour Operators Association, and ITT Majestic, have been actively engaged at the pavilion. These associations have used the platform to promote new travel packages, foster relationships with mainland operators, and explore fresh opportunities for collaboration.

By creating a space for dialogue and knowledge-sharing, the fair has allowed stakeholders to discuss potential partnerships with tour operators from across India, especially in the eastern region, which remains a vital source market for visitors to the islands. This interaction has been crucial in helping these associations align their offerings with the needs of today's travelers, who are increasingly seeking curated, personalized travel experiences.

Strengthening Market Linkages in Eastern India

Eastern India has been identified as a key market for Andaman and Nicobar Islands tourism, and the administration has placed a particular emphasis on building stronger connections with this region. The fair serves as an effective forum for the islands to reinforce their relationships with key players in eastern India's tourism industry, ensuring that the region's residents are well-informed about the diverse experiences available in the Andaman and Nicobar Islands.

Such market-focused engagements are expected to enhance tourism flows and bring about a greater understanding of the region's offerings, which include not just beaches and marine life but also the possibility of adventure tourism, cultural exploration, and eco-friendly activities. By addressing the evolving needs and expectations of travelers, the Administration hopes to increase tourist arrivals in the upcoming months.

Promoting a Balanced Approach: Tourism and Conservation

The balance between tourism growth and environmental preservation remains a top priority for the Andaman and Nicobar Islands. The tourism department has continually emphasized that sustainable development and conservation of natural resources will be at the core of all tourism initiatives. Through collaborations with both local and mainland tourism operators, the islands aim to create an environment where both the local economy and the natural environment can thrive together.

At the Travel East Fair, the islands' commitment to preserving their unique ecosystems while fostering a sustainable tourism model has been highlighted. The tourism department has emphasized that encouraging responsible visitor behaviour is essential, not only for the well-being of the islands but also for the continued growth of their tourism sector.

The Road Ahead for Andaman and Nicobar Islands Tourism

As the Travel East Fair draws to a close on November 30, the Andaman and Nicobar Islands' Administration remains optimistic about the outcome of its participation. Increased footfall at the pavilion and strengthened relationships with key stakeholders are expected to result in more tourism packages being offered to the mainland market. This exposure is also likely to attract greater attention from potential visitors and tour operators in the months leading up to the peak tourist season.

The Administration's broader strategy aims to revive and strengthen tourism flows, and engagement at national and regional travel platforms like the Travel East Fair is seen as a vital part of this process. By consistently participating in such events, the Andaman and Nicobar Islands hope to maintain their momentum and position themselves as a top destination for Indian and international tourists.

As tourism gradually bounces back from the effects of the pandemic, initiatives like these are seen as essential in rebuilding and maintaining confidence in the sector. With continued efforts to promote sustainable practices, engage with industry stakeholders, and highlight the region's diverse tourism offerings, the Andaman and Nicobar Islands are poised for a strong recovery in 2025.

Conclusion

An important step towards increasing the archipelago's tourism appeal, particularly in mainland India, is the Andaman and Nicobar Islands' attendance at the 9th Travel East Fair. The islands are well-positioned to expand their tourism sector and support the expansion of India's thriving travel industry in the upcoming months through an emphasis on sustainable tourism, industry collaboration, and focused outreach to important markets.

By taking advantage of these chances, the Andaman and Nicobar Islands hope to establish themselves as a top tourist destination in the area, providing visitors with distinctive experiences while putting an emphasis on environmental preservation. (Source: www.travelandtourworld.com)

Govt. of India announces implementation of four Labour Codes ....

Codes empower both workers and enterprises, building a workforce that is protected, productive and aligned with the evolving world of work, paving the way for a more resilient, competitive and self-reliant nation.

A comparison of the labour ecosystem, before and after the implementation of the Labour Codes, is as follows:

	Pre Labour Reforms	Post Labour Reforms
Formalization of Employment	No mandatory appointment letters	Mandatory appointment letters to all workers. Written proof will ensure transparency, job security, and fixed employment.
Social Security Coverage	Limited Social Security Coverage	Under Code on Social Security, 2020 all workers including gig & platform Workers to get social security coverage. All workers will get PF, ESIC, insurance, and other social security benefits.
Minimum Wages	Minimum wages applied only to scheduled industries/ employments; large sections of workers remained uncovered	Under the Code on Wages, 2019, all workers to receive a statutory right minimum wage payment. Minimum wages and timely payment will ensure financial security.
Preventive Healthcare	No legal requirement for employers to provide free annual health check-ups to workers	Employers must provide all workers above the age of 40 years with a free annual health check-up. Promote timely preventive health care culture
Timely Wages	No mandatory compliance for employers payment of wages	Mandatory for employers to provide timely wages, ensuring financial stability, reducing work stress and boosting overall morale of the workers.
Women workforce participation	Women's employment in night shifts and certain occupations was restricted	Women are permitted to work at night and in all types of work across all establishments, subject to their consent and required safety measures. Women will get equal opportunities to earn higher incomes–in high paying job roles.
ESIC coverage	ESIC coverage was limited to notified areas and specific industries; establishments with fewer than 10 employees were generally excluded, and hazardous-process units did not have uniform mandatory ESIC coverage across India	ESIC coverage and benefits are extended Pan-India-voluntary for establishments with fewer than 10 employees, and mandatory for Establishments with even one employee engaged in hazardous processes. Social protection coverage will be expanded to all workers.
Compliance Burden	Multiple registrations, licenses and returns across various labour laws.	Single registration, PAN-India single license and single return. Simplified processes and reduction in Compliance Burden.

The Labour Codes introduce several further reforms that strengthen worker protection and simplify compliance for employers:

- National Floor Wage to ensure no worker receives a wage below the minimum living standard.
- Gender-neutral pay and job opportunities, explicitly prohibiting discrimination-including against transgender persons.
- Inspector-cum-Facilitator system, shifting enforcement towards guidance, awareness and compliance support rather than punitive action.
- Faster and predictable dispute resolution, with two-member Industrial Tribunals and the option to approach tribunals directly after conciliation.
- Single registration, single licence and single return across safety and working-conditions requirements, replacing multiple overlapping filings.
- National OSH Board to set harmonized safety and health standards across sectors.
- Mandatory safety committees in establishments with 500+ workers, improving workplace accountability.
- Higher factory applicability limits, easing regulatory burden for small units while retaining full safeguards for workers.

The sections of the Codes which do not require any Rules, Regulations, Bye- laws, Schemes, etc. became effective immediately from the date of enforcement of Codes. The Sections of the Codes, which require Rules, Regulations, Bye- laws, Schemes, etc. will become effective after following due process.

The implementation of the four Labour Codes marks the next major step in this trajectory, further widening the social-security net and embedding portability of benefits across states and sectors. With expanded social security, stronger protections and nationwide portability of entitlements, the Codes place workers, especially women, youth, unorganized, gig and migrant workers, firmly at the centre of labour governance. By reducing compliance burden and enabling flexible, modern work arrangements, the Codes boost employment, skilling and industry growth, reaffirming the Government's commitment to a pro-worker, pro-women, pro-youth and pro- employment labour ecosystem, a press release from Labour Commissioner & DET said.
