Any immediate tariff hike, he said, might place financial stress on households, small businesses, tourism operators, and the fisheries sector.

The Hon'ble MP has also requested the Commission to conduct wider stakeholder consultations, including representatives from PRIs, trade associations, civil society groups, and elected leaders, before making final decisions, a press release from MP Office said.

supersonic surface-to-surface missiles, surface-to-air missiles and rapid-fire gun systems. Both ships feature Combined Diesel or Gas propulsion plants and a state-of-the-art Integrated Platform Management System, enabling higher speeds and improved fuel efficiency. These are the 100th and 101st warships designed in-house by the Warship Design Bureau of the Indian Navy, and built in India, reflecting the Navy's continuous effort to enhance indigenous content and self-reliance. High indigenous content - exceeding 75% - has been achieved through the participation of numerous MSMEs and the procurement of major weapons and sensors from Indian Original Equipment Manufacturers.

Raksha Mantri described the commissioning as a giant stride towards the realisation of Prime Minister, Shri Narendra Modi's dream of Aatmanirbhar Bharat, and a proof of the Government's vision & commitment. "INS Udaygiri & INS Himgiri are the shining examples of the Government's firm resolve towards self-reliance, symbols of a transformative movement, and testament to the vision that the nation will touch greater heights & obtain the goal of self-reliance with concerted efforts of all stakeholders," he said, commending the seamless collaboration between MDL and GRSE in constructing and delivering the two potent warships. Shri Rajnath Singh asserted that the commissioning of INS Udaygiri and INS Himgiri not only strengthens the Navy's combat potential but reinforces its role as a "First Responder" and "Preferred Security Partner" in the Indian Ocean Region. "From combating piracy, fighting against smuggling and illegal trafficking, curbing maritime terrorism, or providing relief after a natural disaster, these warships will prove to be a game-changer in complex and risky operations," he said.

Raksha Mantri dubbed the Indian Navy as a symbol of India's maritime power as it is safeguarding the country's interests amidst the Naval activities being witnessed from Arabian Sea to Middle East and eastern African seaboard. "The geo-strategic condition is such that it has the capability to directly impact our economic development. Our energy requirements, oil and natural gas depend to a large extent on the security of this region. Our Navy has emerged as a major pillar of our national economic security," he said. On the rapidly-evolving nature of warfare, Shri Rajnath Singh stated that new technologies, strategies and equipment are being witnessed in every conflict, and it has become necessary to not only keep updating oneself, but also explore the unexplored and achieve the unexpected. "Old thinking won't work in today's era. We need to anticipate new threats and keep finding solutions, which is why our Government is giving priority to research and development in the defence sector. Earlier, only a few countries were manufacturing high-tech equipment, which now India is producing on its own soil," he said.
