The Department of Transport advises and encourages the general public, including residents of designated rural Panchayats, adjoining villages as well as local bodies such as auto, jeep, car/taxi unions, driving schools, and aspiring school students to actively participate in the forthcoming outreach camps.

These camps offer a crucial opportunity for all stakeholders to access a wide range of transport-related services locally, significantly reducing the need for travel to distant RTO Offices. Engagement in this initiative is vital for enhancing awareness of essential road safety practices, ensuring strict adherence to statutory transport regulations, and facilitating timely access to critical services such as licensing, vehicle registration, and permit processing. This collective participation will contribute substantially to improving road safety standards and strengthening transport infrastructure and service delivery across Andaman & Nicobar Islands.

For further information and assistance, one may contact the nearest State Transport Service Unit, a press release from Department of Transport said.
